Readiness for providing documentation

Guidance for inspectors outlines that the following information must be available to inspection teams by 8am on the first day of the inspection. This data should be compliant with data protection and information-sharing laws. It should be existing documentation, can be in any format and can be uploaded to the inspection portal ahead of the first day. Inspectors do not expect written accounts of verbal feedback, attainment predictions, tracking data, pupil premium documentation.

Each of the tables over the next three pages enable you to identify who will be responsible for curating the documents, keep a record when they were last updated, explain their review status, capture where they can be quickly found, and add any additional notes that it would be helpful to capture.

Operational documents	SLT Lead	Updated	Reviewed	Link/Location	Notes
Wifi details for inspection team.
Mαp of the school building.
Other practical school details.
School timetable.
Current staff list (indicating ECTs, mentors, tutors).
Details of staff absence.
Times for school day and planned interruptions.
Lessons/teachers not to visit with reasons.
Other operational documents.

Readiness for the planning call

Who, other than the headteacher, will attend the planning call and what will their role be during the planning call?

Name	Position	Role during planning call

Part 1 of the planning call will focus on leader wellbeing, reasonable adjustments and adaptations needed during the inspection process, complaints that have been made to Ofsted since the last inspection, and confirmation of details about the school. The boxes below are for your use in capturing key information which you wish to communicate to the lead inspector in response to their queries. Note: the list is illustrative of the guidance to inspectors and questions may vary.

Planning call part 1	Notes, reflections and links to evidence
What are the arrangements for leader wellbeing at the school and what are the contact details of the person/s responsible for leader wellbeing?
What foreseeable reasonable adjustments will the inspection team need to make to ensure all stakeholders are able to participate in inspection?
What wider issues have been raised by the complaints made to Ofsted since the last inspection? How have these issues been tackled or addressed by the school?
What further information is relevant about the scheme of delegation, role of trust leaders, the school's religious character and nursery/wraparound care?

Readiness for learning walks

The guidance to inspectors explains that learning walks with the inspection team are an opportunity for leaders to show and share their knowledge and insights about the context of their school. These learning walks will have a specific focus on the areas in bullet points below, but they will also pay attention to other areas of the framework including how behaviour is managed and the provision for the personal development and wellbeing of pupils:

- ▶ Inclusion (with the SENDCO and/or inclusion lead).
- Curriculum, teaching and achievement (with senior leaders).
- Leadership (with headteacher and/or other).
- Primary/EYFS (with senior leaders and others e.g. reading lead).
- ▶ Secondary and post-16 (with senior leaders and subject leaders).

Learning walk queries	SLT Lead	Notes, reflections and links to evidence
Personnel: Who will be the key people that you want to accompany inspectors in each of the learning walks? What preparation is needed to skill them up for this activity?
Focus: Have you done learning walks in the areas of focus for inspection teams? What did the outcomes from these learning walks tell you about the school and the process?
Inclusion (strengths): Where will you want to take members of the inspection team to show positive outcomes and experiences of vulnerable pupils at the school?
Inclusion (challenges): Where will you want to take them to exemplify challenges, areas for development, and areas where the school has made progress recently?

Appendix: Readiness for detailed self-evaluation and grading against the inspection criteria

Pages 12 and 13 of this audit tool included a table to support the self-evaluation of the school's provision against the five-point grading system for each of the areas of the new inspection framework. In this appendix, we offer a re-working of the state-funded school inspection toolkit to help school leaders think more fully about this self-evaluation process in line with the way in which inspection teams will do so during the inspection.

For each colour-coded section of the framework, other than the section on safeguarding, the school may want to consider whether or not to use the following process to help them reach judgements ahead of the planning meeting with the lead inspector:

Q1. Does the school meet ALL of the criteria for the 'expected standard' for this section of the inspection framework?

If 'YES' go to Q2

If 'NO' go to Q4

Q2. Does the school meet ALL of the criteria for the 'strong standard' for this section of the inspection framework?

If 'YES' go to Q3

If 'NO' the judgement is Expected Standard Q3. Does the school meet ALL of the criteria for 'exceptional' for this section of the inspection framework?

If 'YES' the judgment is Exceptional

If 'NO' the judgement is Strong Standard Q4. Does the school meet ANY of the criteria for 'needs attention' for this section of the inspection framework?

If 'YES' go to Q5

If 'NO' the judgement is Expected Standard Q5. Does the school meet ANY of the criteria for 'urgent improvement' for this section of the inspection framework?

If 'YES' the judgement is Urgent Improvement

If 'NO' the judgement is Needs Attention

To arrive at a judgement on safeguarding, which is a binary judgement of 'met' or 'not met', the process for school leader evaluation is shorter.

- Does the school meet ALL of the criteria for 'met'. If 'YES' the judgement is that safeguarding standards have been met.
- Does the school meet ANY of the criteria for 'not met'. If 'YES' the judgement is that safeguarding standards have not been met.

Please note that provision of the toolkits in this format, and reference to how school leaders can use this format to review their effectiveness in line with how the inspection team will do so, does not mean that SSAT endorses this approach to self-evaluation. Our purpose is to present the grading criteria in a more user-friendly way so that school leaders are better able to navigate the new sections of the framework alongside the new criteria.
